

Poeton Industries congratulates our newly qualified IMF Technicians - Russell Hackling and Liam Hill!

Both Liam and Russell undertook the Institute of Metal Finishing Foundation course over a 6 month period last year which was run by Colin John the retired MD of Poeton Industries who is now employed as Technical Consultant for the group. This year they both embarked on the IMF Technicians course and both passed their exams in July with Russell gaining a Merit

Liam Hill is 20 and joined the Poeton team as an Apprentice in 2006 he has worked in both the Nickel Department and the Quality department as part of his Apprenticeship training and has also undertaken the IMF courses to compliment his apprenticeship. Liam is a well thought of and cheerful member of the Quality team. Liam completed his Apprenticeship programme this year

Russell is 22 and also went to school locally completing his GCSE's at Severnvale and then went on to The Crypt Grammar School sixth form for his A levels which included Chemistry. After working for another local company Lab testing, Russell joined Poeton as Lab Technician just over 18 months ago and is a highly valued member of the Laboratory Team.

Both Russell and Liam will be encouraged to continue with their training and development to the next level which is the Advanced Technicians Certificate. So watch this space!!
